Verification:

A list of documents may be requested to provide eligibility. After the domain name registration, you will receive an email from the Registry introducing the verification process. The verification of your identity and music profile information are required.

- Registrant Identity Verification. After registration, registrants must complete an identity verification through the Registry's Identity Verification Solution Provider (IVSP).
- Music Profile and Nexus Verification. To complete the verification process, music profile information and data will be required at the IVSP. This information is used to determine a "Music Score" and "Nexus Score".
- "Music Score" (Article 4.0 of Name Selection Policy). Members of the music community can be recognized and identified by works, contractual engagements, social connections and profile. The Registry will generate a metric, called "Music Score", from these attributes. The "Music Score" will be used as a measure of the registrant's connection and history in the music community.
- Nexus Score" (Article 5.0 of Name Selection Policy). The Registry will try to quantify and determine a nexus between the registrant and the domain name registered. This "Nexus Score" will be used as a determinant for the suitability and legitimacy of a registrant to register a specific domain name.
- .MUSIC domain names will be placed under a Registry Server Hold Status (domain name not resolving) until the verification are completed.
- Failure to Verify. After the registration the registrant has 90 days to complete these verification. Failure to complete both verification, the registrant becomes ineligible and the Registry at its discretion may revoke the domain name(s) without a refund or put the domain name(s) under Music Community Protection Lock in accordance with the Anti-Abuse and Legitimate Use Policy.
