

Conditions of Participation in the domaindiscount24 Website Award

- Eligible to participate are exclusively websites hosted through domaindiscount24.
- The participants must be the owner of the registered site and maintain their own site (design and content).
- Online offers that only provide adult content can not participate in the competition.
- Excluded from the competition are professional online shops, where goods or services can be ordered via Internet.
- In order to participate in the competition the submission of a web address with a website underneath (hereafter “entry”) is mandatory.

There is no claim against the organizer to publish content.

Contributed entries can no longer be deleted by the participant. However, the participant can contact the organizer for the time of the competition and demand a deletion of the content. Granting this deletion is on discretion of the organizer.

Rights to submitted entries

By submitting an entry, the participant declares his consent that the competition organizer may publish it and also use it for advertising purposes, in particular on the website and the social media appearances of the organizer.

The participant grants the contest operator an irrevocable, temporally and regional unrestricted right of use and exploitation for the textual and visual denomination of the web address including the website under this address and their content. This also includes the right to sub-licensing.

The granting of rights extends beyond the duration of the contest.

The participant declares his consent that the competition organizer can transfer given rights completely or partially on to third parties. The competition organizer can with immediate effect for the future withdraw given rights, without the consent of the participant being required.

The publication of the entry may be edited by the organizer.

Liability

The participant declares that the entry which he submits does not violate the terms of participation of this contest and applicable law (especially, without limitation copyright, performance protection, picture and personal rights and other rights) and the good morals.

The participant declares that he has all rights to the submitted entry (the web address, the website below and its contents) and that the contribution is free of third party rights.

The participant shall indemnify the organizer from all claims especially, without limitation of actual or alleged claims of third parties, which result from the violation of the competition rules as well as violations of applicable law. This includes all costs and expenses incurred in the event of a legal dispute.

The organizer reserves the right to delete the submitted entry at his own discretion if there is reasonable suspicion of a violation of the rights granted above.

Furthermore, the general competition and prize draw rules apply.
